Welcome to dynamics, passion and fascination. Welcome to Audi driving experience.
It’s not just in the summer that you can experience sheer fun at the wheel with the Audi driving experience. We organise exciting events in the winter too - like in January during the Ski World Cup in St. Anton am Arlberg. Around 1,500 participants got the opportunity to try out a fleet of Audi e-tron vehicles on snow and ice - and to experience for themselves the sportiness of this brand-new model, the world’s first all-electric SUV.

Participants had the opportunity to put the dynamic handling of the Audi e-tron to the test on a drift and slalom course and demonstrate its off-road capabilities on an off-road course – and needed little convincing: the two electric motors developing up to 300 kW and a maximum 664 Nm, the electric all-wheel drive and numerous intelligently networked suspension systems deliver optimum quattro performance on any terrain. Another advantage of the electric SUV is its low centre of gravity. The low installation position of the drive components and the high-voltage battery contributes substantially to the electric SUV’s high transverse dynamics. In this way, the centre of gravity of the Audi e-tron is on a par with that of a saloon car. The axle load distribution with a ratio of almost 50:50 is also perfectly balanced and is adjusted to the driving situation.

“It was incredible fun driving the Audi e-tron”, the participants commented enthusiastically. “Despite its size, the car is incredibly agile, the power response is very direct. And the off-road characteristics were equally compelling”, was the feedback received time and again during the event. The performance of the Audi e-tron proved instantly appealing: “It was my first contact with electric mobility – and in extreme conditions on ice and snow to boot”, one female participant said. “That’s why I was somewhat sceptical at the start. But the Audi e-tron handled superbly and was really easy to drive. And the drivetrain is so quiet that all you could hear was the spikes crunching on the ice. That on its own was very unusual.”

The driving experience with the Audi e-tron was also offered as part of other Ski World Cup races. And there too, positive feedback came fast and furious. “It was great to see how quickly the participants really warmed to the Audi e-tron. It’s a great accolade for Audi that Audi’s first all-electric volume-production model is going down so well”, is how Christopher Broeker, project manager of the Audi driving experience, sums it up.
Audi electrifies World Economic Forum in Davos

Sustainable mobility for the World Economic Forum in Davos. As the exclusive shuttle partner for the annual Forum, Audi is providing a fleet of 50 Audi e-tron vehicles in 2019. The all-electric cars are powered entirely by green electricity. With mobile charging containers, the company is demonstrating one way of recycling used electric car batteries in future. “We are focusing squarely and systematically on sustainable mobility solutions for the future”, stresses AUDI AG CEO, Bram Schot. “At this year’s World Economic Forum we can demonstrate live and ‘bring to life’ in the truest sense of the word our definition of electric mobility with everyday usability.”

The Audi e-tron is the first all-electric large-scale production model from the Ingolstadt-based premium carmaker. There are already more than 20,000 reservations for the model, with cars due to arrive in dealerships in Europe over the next few weeks. With the shuttle fleet made up of 50 Audi e-tron vehicles, the company is once again demonstrating the car’s practical usage in the snow-covered Swiss mountains. The Audi e-tron mastered consummately the challenge of negotiating the 1,200 metre climb from Zurich Airport to Davos in freezing temperatures.

Three mobile Audi charging containers with a total power output of 700 kW and a storage capacity of 1.14 MWh guarantee the rapid supply of green electricity locally for the e-tron fleet that is in constant use. With this Audi research project the company is testing the reusability of electric car batteries. After their usage phase in the car, the high-voltage batteries are still suitable for various storage applications. For this reason, Audi is testing usage scenarios to utilise the relevant resources as efficiently as possible.

The company is using the containers developed specifically for major events and importer events especially wherever there is no charging infrastructure for a large vehicle fleet, thus allowing it to act flexibly in an environmentally friendly manner.

With the research project, Audi is visibly demonstrating its commitment to the values of the World Economic Forum’s Global Battery Alliance. The Alliance is made up of public and private partners from the entire battery supply chain, and aims to ensure the social and environmental sustainability in the value chain of battery raw materials. To this end the Global Battery Alliance is examining the conditions with raw material mining, with sustainable recycling concepts in line with a circular economy, as well as innovations that promote the sustainability of the battery. Audi has been a member of the cooperation platform since 2017.
In the 2019 motorsport season, AUDI AG will be involved in the pioneering Formula E and the enthralling DTM touring car racing. The company’s involvement aims primarily to derive innovative technologies for the future and volume-production use.

Formula E

Audi starts 2018/19 as defending champion in Formula E. The world's first electric race series entered its fifth season in early December 2018 in Ad Diriyah, Saudi Arabia. The all-new Audi e-tron FE05 celebrated its premiere there, ushering in a new era in the innovative race series: the larger battery capacity of the new vehicle generation eliminates the need for the obligatory vehicle change in the middle of the race.

Audi is focusing on the brand’s electrification campaign with its involvement in Formula E. As the first all-electric volume-production vehicle, the Audi e-tron celebrated its premiere in September 2018. The e-tron Sportback is due to follow in 2019. By 2025, Audi will offer twelve different models with all-electric drive in the world’s key markets, generating around a third of its sales from electrified models. Motorsport is taking on a pioneering role here. After all, the Four Rings have been using this platform for almost 40 years to test new technologies for volume production. The Audi e-tron now follows in the footsteps of quattro, TFSI, TDI and hybrid.

Audi was the first German manufacturer to join Formula E in the 2017/18 season. Even in the debut season, Lucas di Grassi and Daniel Abt notched up four victories, guaranteeing the Audi Sport ABT Schaeffler team the title in the team rankings. Throughout the season the successful duo took part in a total of 13 races across the globe, including in Mexico City, Hong Kong, Rome, Paris, Berlin and New York.

DTM

Audi will also be involved in the spectacular touring car racing in 2019, continuing its many years of involvement in the DTM. A new era is dawning this year in the popular race series: the previous V8 naturally aspirated engines are being replaced with new four-cylinder turbocharged engines that deliver a good mix of performance and efficiency. The new engines provide an important connection with volume production, as the four-cylinder two-litre turbocharged engines in particular are important combustion engines worldwide at Audi. The power output of the racing engines uprated to around 600 hp holds out the prospect of even more thrilling action. Together with the modified aerodynamics, they rank as the cornerstones of the new Class 1 regulations, due also to come into force from 2020 in the Japanese Super GT series.

Audi will also be one of the title contenders in 2019 with the Audi RS 5 DTM lining up on the grid in the 18 races in Germany, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands and the UK. The Four Rings rely on a tried-and-trusted driver sextet in the shape of Loïc Duval, Robin Frijns, Jamie Green, Nico Müller, René Rast and Mike Rockenfeller.

In 2018, Audi notched up its 100th victory in the DTM, with defending champion René Rast missing out on the drivers' title by just four points. The Audi driver’s six victories in a row during the season set a new record in the traditional-laden race series which was inaugurated in 1984.

Motorsport training level 2

Our Motorsport training level 2 course is aimed at racing drivers that want to improve their driving skills further.

You will receive thorough tuition from our instructors, who are used to be professional racing drivers, during this extremely challenging driver training event. As part of video and data analysis, they will show you where you still have room for improvement – be it braking before a bend or accelerating out of a bend. With just four participants and two instructors, you will get to know every inch of the circuit with the new Audi R8 Coupé V10 performance quattro and be taken to the limits of vehicle handling.

Demonstrate that you have the driving skills to drive a racing car; after all, the aim is to put what you have learned safely into practice. Now you need to demonstrate to our instructors that you are in full control of the Audi R8 LMS GT4. Then you can climb aboard, start the engine, sense that motor racing thrill. The power lies in your own hands.

To be eligible for this driver training event, you must have first completed a racetrack training course or have motor racing experience.

Audi R8 Spyder
Tyrol Alpine tour

Winding Alpine passes and enthralling panoramic vistas, all in the new Audi R8 Spyder V10 performance quattro, leaving no scope for any doubt. Welcome to our Tyrol Alpine tour. Experience the impressive countryside on both the Austrian and Italian sides, and master the awe-inspiring hairpin bends with a sports car that turns every bend and every ascent into an experience.

From Munich Airport you set off in the new Audi R8 Spyder through the Alpine upland to Lermoos. During lunch in the Hotel MOHR Life Resort you will enjoy not only the culinary delicacies but also the impressive views of the Zugspitze.

Afterwards, the dreamlike drive through the Stubai Alps takes you through the Köhtaisattel pass (2,017 metres) up to Köhtai, the highest skiing resort in Austria. Watch out for the odd wandering cow on this almost deserted pass! Your destination for the day takes you through Telfs-Buchen to the Interalpen-Hotel Tyrol, which is where you will be staying for the next two nights. Here you will enjoy all the comforts of a top-notch hotel and the awe-inspiring view of the Alps.

The next morning you will also find the next Alpine challenge awaiting you. Over the Timmelsjoch, the highest border crossing from Italy to Austria (2,474 metres), the route takes you to St. Leonhard. The border pass first connected the Ötztal Alps with the Passeier Valley in 1919 and separates the Ötztal Alps from the Stubai Alps. In Southern Tyrol we will be expecting you for lunch in the Golf & Spa Resort Andreus, situated in the middle of the impressive mountain ranges of Southern Tyrol. In the afternoon you will experience other exciting stretches of road in the scintillating Tyrolean mountains as you make your way back to the Interalpen-Hotel Tyrol through the Jaufen Pass, perched at almost 2,100 metres, with its twenty hairpin bends.

Yet more of the most beautiful drives through the Alps are waiting to be discovered on day three. The Hahntenjoch awaits you as the next Alpine pass. To reach the pass situated at 1,894 metres, you need to climb almost 1,000 metres. The winding, narrow road has gradients of up to 18.9% and holds out a special treat particularly with the new Audi R8 Spyder.

The route takes you along Lake Plansee to Murnau am Staffelsee for lunch in the Alpenhof Murnau. The concluding stage back to Munich through the picturesque Alpine foothills allows you to sample once more the full potential of the new Audi R8 Spyder V10 performance quattro.

Audi R8 Spyder Dolce Vita tour

Experience an exciting Italian journey. Many years ago, poets and thinkers seeking inspiration travelled to Italy from abroad in horse-drawn carriages: in 2019, it is your turn to be inspired here by a mode of transport with rather more horsepower – the new Audi R8 Spyder V10 performance quattro!

Experience sinuous mountain passes, stunning landscapes and famous wine routes in sporty fashion and flawless style. Marvel at how unmistakeable design and supremely sporty performance harmonise perfectly on Italy’s roads.

On day one, you set off from Munich Airport, heading for St. Walburg in the idyllic Ulten Valley, including a stopover in the Seehotel Überfahrt via the winding Jaufen Pass perched at almost 2,100 metres. Afterwards, you can unwind in the evening at the Hotel Arosea Life Balance.

The next morning, enjoy the delightful drive along the Eppan wine route as you travel towards Verona. You will find yourself immersed in Italian dolce vita at its finest as you have lunch while admiring the fabulous view of the city’s old quarter, which has been classified as a World Heritage Site since 2000.

On past the slopes of the Valpolicella, the journey takes you along the western shore of Lake Garda to the Hotel Lefay Resort & Spa. Over the next two days this 5-star hotel will treat you to sophisticated luxury of the highest level. This provides the perfect starting point for an exciting drive around Lago di Valvestino, Lago Idro, Lago di Ledro and along the western shore of Lake Garda on day three. You are free to spend the afternoon as you like.

Over the Brenner Pass the journey in the new Audi R8 Spyder takes you to the Interalpen-Hotel Tyrol in Telfs-Buchen, located at 1,300 metres in the Tyrol, where you can savour lunch as well as the breathtaking views.

Suitably refreshed, it’s time to tackle the last stage back to Munich in the afternoon. The Audi R8 Spyder Dolce Vita tour – come and discover Italy at its sportiest!
Audi Altmühl Valley tour and Audi South Tyrol tour

Audi brand experience

There is no greater pleasure than the pleasure of anticipation – and this is something you can truly look forward to on the following tours. Get a sense of your own pace with the new Audi R8 Spyder V10 performance quattro.

Audi Altmühl Valley tour

From the Audi driving experience center in Neuburg an der Donau you set off on a discovery tour through the Audi production facilities in Ingolstadt and/or on a visit to the Audi museum mobile in the Audi Forum Ingolstadt to put you in just the right frame of mind for this tour. The Altmühl Valley natural park is full of fantastic roads and landscapes just waiting to be discovered. Covering an area of 3,000 square kilometres, the Altmühl Valley is Germany’s third-largest natural park. The natural park features a mixture of cragged dolomite cliffs, sun-drenched juniper heaths and gentle river valleys.

Its central hub is your first stop-off point: the university and diocesan town of Eichstätt with its baroque architecture. Admire the urban harmony formed by the blend of grandiose religious and secular buildings, wide and airy squares, playful fountains and enchanting narrow streets. The Jurassic marble quarries towering high above the winding roads are another striking feature.

For the next four hours, you can be as active or laid-back as you like while exploring the dynamics of the new Audi R8 Spyder V10 performance quattro. The roads through the Altmühl Valley provide the perfect setting for this purpose.

Audi South Tyrol tour

Drive on the most stunning panoramic roads and into the breathtaking world of the Dolomite Mountains in the new Audi R8 Spyder V10 performance quattro. Bizarre-looking mountains and spectacular rock formations – this is the mountain range of the Southern Limestone Alps that formed more than 200 million years ago.

A particular feature of this group of mountains is the sudden change between jagged rocks and gently sloping pastures.

With the Alps in full view, it is time to head south from Munich Airport. After passing through the winding Jaufen Pass and Merano, in the middle of a valley basin surrounded by peaks soaring up to 3,335 metres high, you come to the Ullten Valley, where your first-class accommodation, the Arosa Life Balance Hotel, is situated.

The next day’s stage leads along the Eppan Wine Route, through magnificent landscapes and into the Dolomites, which are with good reason an UNESCO World Heritage site. The route leads over the Sella Pass on sinuous, snaking roads, up to the 2,121-metre Gardena Pass. In what is truly a unique spot, you will enjoy the culinary delights of South Tyrolean cuisine along with a magnificent view. After this you scale the Pordoi Pass in the new Audi R8 Spyder, followed by other impressive passes on the way back to your Hotel Arosea Life Balance.

The final day once again holds out the prospect of pure driving pleasure as you tackle the journey through the Timmelsjoch, located at 2,474 metres, to Hochgurgl. Through the Ötz Valley you head past Murnau am Staffelsee back to Munich. Enjoy once again to the full the driving pleasure and fun at the wheel. This driving course is of particular interest to companies with their own fleet of vehicles: your employees will receive professional training and, as a result, this event can bring about a permanent reduction in your running costs.

Or book an Efficiency training course – in which we demonstrate how to maximise fuel economy without compromising the sense of driving pleasure and fun at the wheel. You will find the answers to frequently asked questions here:

- When booking, a separate registration form is required for each participant.
- For the events that are part of the Audi tour experience, vehicles are covered by fully comprehensive insurance with a € 1,000 excess.
- The vehicles for the training courses and tours are provided by Audi and there will be two participants in each vehicle, unless stated otherwise.
- Fuel costs (apart from Brand experience events) and meals are included in the price; as are accommodation costs for events lasting more than one day.

Audi tour experience events, where only active participation is possible, are the exception to this.
- Minors may only attend events if another accompanying person, who is not actively taking part in the event, assumes responsibility for their supervision.
- Vouchers for driver training events can be ordered by contacting us as indicated below.
- Please note that participants will have to make their own arrangements for any additional accommodation required. We would be pleased to provide you with contact details of the relevant hotel.
- The participant documentation will be sent to you by postal service around four weeks prior to the training date.

Should you have any other questions or require further information, our team will be pleased to assist you.
