Participants in the Audi driving experience winter programme can look forward to the ultimate in driving dynamics from January 2019. In the wide range of driving courses on ice, snow and asphalt, customers can experience the sportiest vehicles from Audi Sport GmbH: the Audi RS 4 Avant, the Audi RS 5 Coupé and the Audi R8 Coupé V10 plus. These are three of the most powerful high-performance models that Audi Sport has tested under the most extreme conditions and taken to series maturity. Findings and developments in the world of motorsport can be found in the production models. All three models feature quattro permanent all-wheel drive and share the same sporty DNA.

Originally established in 1983 as quattro GmbH, Audi Sport GmbH is a wholly owned subsidiary of AUDI AG. Its work is based on four business areas: high-performance models, Audi Sport customer racing, customisation with the Audi exclusive programme and the Audi collection. The R and RS models combine maximum prestige with everyday usability and outstanding performance. Entry into the world of Audi Sport begins with the Audi RS 3 Sportback, while the R8 series represents the pinnacle with the fastest models the brand has ever built.

"With the Audi Sport R and RS models, Audi driving experience is offering our customers maximum driving dynamics", says Michael-Julius Renz, CEO of Audi Sport GmbH. "It’s particularly exciting to experience these powerful cars in the extreme conditions of the winter training events and to recognise the large safety margins."

Presented in 2017, the Audi RS 4 Avant is the brand’s RS icon. It is the fourth generation of the model series which was launched in 1999. Both RS models are provided for the ice training programmes in Scandinavia as well as at Seefeld and Saalbach. "A unique experience is guaranteed not only by the very different engine characteristics, but also by the specially adapted transmission for these models in conjunction with quattro all-wheel drive," explains Michael-Julius Renz. "A more spontaneous throttle response, significantly more torque and shorter ratios give drivers an even more harmonious driving experience at higher speeds." The transmission offers a real plus in terms of driving dynamics, especially in manual mode, as it prevents automatic upshifts and downshifts. On the ice course, the models deliver an exceptional action-packed experience.

The dynamic spearhead is the Audi R8 Coupé V10 plus. The second generation of the high-performance race car guarantees breathtaking performance. Its 5.2 litre V10 engine produces 449 kW (610 hp) and propels the car up to 330 km/h. In the winter programme, the top model is at the ready for Audi driving experience customers in Neuburg an der Donau. "In this segment, we are one of the last manufacturers to use a naturally aspirated engine with an evocative sound and high-revving ability", says Renz. "The drive select programme enables drivers to adjust various components according to their personal requirements. In performance mode, the system finds the optimum symbiosis of traction, handling and track conditions, taking into account dry or wet roads." Neuburg provides the ideal setting to test this.

The Audi R8 Coupé V10 plus also features quattro permanent all-wheel drive. The seven-speed S tronic dual-clutch transmission transfers the power to the wheels, while an electro-hydraulic multi-plate clutch can distribute torque freely between the axles. This provides the best possible traction at all times. Whichever model the participants experience: driving on snow and ice has never been as exhilarating as in winter 2019.

From the PlayStation to the race track
Audi e-tron Vision Gran Turismo

Turning electric mobility into a tangible experience in a unique way: this was the task put before a team from Audi’s Technical Development in June 2017, with a focus on “innovation vehicles”. Originally developed exclusively for virtual races on Sony PlayStation 4, an Audi GT race car was the starting point for this project. The end result in April 2018: the all-electric concept car, the “Audi e-tron Vision Gran Turismo”, a fully functional, real-world car, which was used as a race taxi for the Formula E championship events in Europe. With cutting-edge technology and a futuristic design, Audi has turned a virtual car into a real one within the space of ten months.

The Audi e-tron Vision Gran Turismo serves several purposes: for one, the brand with the four rings uses it to showcase its capabilities in electric mobility – specifically the expertise gained in the Formula E racing series. In addition, this forward-looking racing car makes it possible to experience the hot topic of electric mobility in an unprecedented way, demonstrating that Audi is also shaping the electric mobility of the future in a sporty, emotive and fascinating style.

As passengers in the Audi e-tron Vision Gran Turismo, Audi’s customers and guests get to experience this first hand. Firstly, on the sidelines of European Formula E races: in Rome, Paris, Berlin and Zurich. Following the season finale in mid-July 2018, when the Team Audi Sport ABT Schaeffler won the team title in the world’s first all-electric racing series for the first time, the Audi e-tron Vision GT will be deployed at selected automotive events around the globe. What’s more, it has instantly become the new favourite of fans everywhere.

“ Incredible!” This is always the initial reaction of any passenger riding in the Audi e-tron Vision Gran Turismo. “The people we chauffeur around are particularly surprised by the immediate, extremely high acceleration and the barely audible motor sound.”, says Dindo Capello. The former Audi factory driver from Italy and the Swiss ex-DTM driver Rahel Frey provide customers and guests with a live, real-world experience of electric mobility on the track in Audi’s first all-electric race taxi. For the electric-car chauffeurs, it’s an experience that keeps electrifying them, too. “I’m used to powerful cars but this one I feel is very, very impressive”, says Dindo Capello. The Audi driver with a licence for electric driving on the track adds: “The beaming faces after every taxi ride prove that we’ve achieved our goal: with this automotive concept for the future, Audi evokes truly unique feelings.”

The sprint from 0 to 100 km/h in the Audi e-tron Vision Gran Turismo takes just 2.5 seconds - on a level with Formula 1. After 5.2 seconds, the electric GT race car passes the 200 km/h mark. Three electric motors, each delivering 200 kW, make this possible. One sits on the front axle and two are located at the rear axle. They generate a system output of 600 kW, which corresponds to 815 hp. The maximum torque is 1,000 Newton metres.

The triple electric power output is transmitted to all four wheels. Audi’s permanent, fully electric e-tron quattro all-wheel drive operates with variable torque distribution. The body is a high-strength tubular space frame and carbon fibre combination. The two-seater electric coupé has two doors.

When designing this futuristic concept, the Audi developers did not have to conform to a production model or a set of racing regulations. However, sportiness, a powerful structure and clarity were important: this unmistakable spirit exuded by every Audi had to be embodied by the Audi e-tron Vision Gran Turismo as well. So, the exciting look of the 1989 Audi 90 quattro IMSA GTO provided the cues for further development.

Numerous elements of Audi’s new design language can be found in the e-tron Vision Gran Turismo. For example, the inverted Singleframe in the body colour clearly echoes the traditional radiator grille and will be a striking feature of Audi’s new e-tron models. In short: with its e-tron Vision Gran Turismo concept car, Audi has produced an impressive trailblazer in terms of shape and colour for an extremely dynamic and progressive GT race car in the future.

Off-road training

For many, driving doesn’t truly begin until you are off the beaten track. Does this appeal to you? Come and try out our Audi Q8 50 TDI quattro or selected Q models at the handling limits in a half-day training course. Under the guidance of our experienced team of instructors you will learn how to tackle our demanding off-road course in theory and in practice.

Challenging training modules, such as negotiating a 42° slope or 55% hill, show you how extreme situations can be safely mastered in an Audi off-road model. Driving through near-impassable terrain is simulated by a drive on rutted tracks.

Another aim of the off-road training is to teach you how to use the assistance systems that are relevant to off-road driving effectively and how to safely handle the functionalities of quattro drive, such as the electronic differential lock (EDS), while demonstrating the impressive performance capabilities of the training vehicles.

This year, following requests from customers, we are also offering in Saalbach an intensive two-day version of our drift training course. After learning the basics of drifting, you can expect more specific and challenging training modules on day two in order to further optimise your timing and feel for the right drift.

Audi North Cape tour

Set off on an exclusive trip to Scandinavia’s Arctic region and the North Cape. Endless expanses, snow-covered wilderness and absolute stillness are followed by majestic fjords, lined by cliff faces soaring over 1,000 metres high and jagged peaks. This panorama will take your breath away, as will your training vehicle – the new Audi Q8 50 TDI quattro, whose performance characteristics speak for themselves.

For four days the participants cross the fascinating landscape in the north of Finland and Norway. In the Lapp village of Kilpisjärvi in the far north-west of the country, you will depart on a snow scooter expedition across frozen lakes and through snowy forests into Finland’s isolated snow desert.

After the first stage the group heads north-west to Tromsø. The Norwegian city is home to the world’s most northerly university and the Arctic Sea Cathedral. And on we go to Alta and on to Honningsvåg.

This is the perfect precursor to the tour’s incredible highlight – your trip to the North Cape, a slate plateau jutting out of the Arctic Ocean on the Norwegian island of Magerøya. When you are standing on the edge of the North Cape cliffs, only the waves of the Barents Sea are between you and the North Pole. This is the most northerly place on the continent.

After a moment’s peace, enjoy the idyllic scenery on your way back. The fifth and final day of the Audi North Cape Tour take you via Saariselkä in Finland back to the starting point in Kittilä.

Anyone that has driven with Audi driving experience to the Arctic Sea cannot fail to fall in love with this landscape.

Would you like to take part in one of the Audi driving experience training or driving events but can’t find a date that suits you? Or maybe you want a trainer all to yourself? Then allow us to present our Audi individual experience.

This is your opportunity to enjoy an amazing experience with a personal touch. Whether you have already completed a driving training course or not, your “personal coach” will put together a training programme to suit you and your driving abilities.

Or book an Efficiency training course – in which we demonstrate how to maximise fuel economy without compromising the sense of driving pleasure and fun at the wheel. This driving course is of particular interest to companies with their own fleet of vehicles: your employees will receive professional training and, as a result, this event can bring about a permanent reduction in your running costs.

Naturally, you are also able to book our customised training programme as an incentive for your company or as an exclusive event for guests and friends. The expert support you will receive is a sure guarantee of success and, above all, fun at the wheel.

Simply email your enquiry to incentive@audi.de. We will be delighted to advise you personally and provide you with an individual offer.

Please appreciate that exclusive training events as well as individual road experiences are subject to the availability of the training venues and the desired vehicles.

Since it opened in spring 2014, the Audi driving experience centre in Neuburg an der Donau has been used frequently by many companies for their various events. Our versatile customer building forms the heart of the Audi driving experience centre and provides an ideal ambience for product presentations, conferences and incentives – your options are virtually endless!

Presentation areas on two levels and rooms that can be flexibly combined offer a stylish setting for your event with up to 400 guests. The conference area, which can be expanded to meet your requirements, is equipped with state-of-the-art technology and provides everything you need to hold conferences and meetings for up to 180 people. International guests will benefit from the superb infrastructure as it only takes about 50 minutes from Munich airport to the driving experience venue.

But what could be more extraordinary than to combine a conference with a real driving experience? The Audi driving experience centre in Neuburg an der Donau offers a host of possibilities on a 30,000-square metre dynamic driving area, a handling course up to 2.2 kilometres long and an off-road area.

In the half-day R8 training experience for example, your guests will experience the Audi R8 Coupé V10 plus up close. Various driving exercises on the dynamic area push participants to the physical limits of performance.

Another highlight is the guided driving event on the handling course where your conference guests can put their newly acquired skills into practice. High-speed rides in the Audi R8 Coupé V10 plus or breathtaking tilts in the Audi Q8 50 TDI quattro on the off-road course give your guests another view of the world – as a passenger with one of our instructors. In a rescue simulator, you can also practise being rescued from an overturned car. The in-house restaurant, with a terrace offering a panoramic view of the entire site, provides the welcome refreshments.

We would be happy to put together your customised “Conference plus” programme on request. Contact us at: incentive@audi.de
